September 1944 - April 1946

1. The airfield of BOBRUIISK ( $29^{\circ}13' E/53^{\circ}8' N$ ), White Russian SSR, was located about 6,600 feet southwest of the railroad station, west of the Berezina River. Three storehouses were along a spur track leading to the field. Two runways forming a right angle were interconnected by a taxiway loop.
2. Four barracks buildings were on the northeastern edge of the large landing field. A brick radio station was southeast of the barracks.
3. From 250 to 300 aircraft of various types were observed at the field in 1946.
